BFI Lottery Funding General Conditions

Introduction

Welcome to the BFI Doc Society Short Film Fund. We have a mission to discover and support talented directors and producers at the start of their careers. We're seeking talent with the burning desire to tell original stories: people with inspired creative approaches and new perspectives, and work that might be surprising, revelatory or challenging.

We invest National Lottery funds in original documentary filmmaking from adventurous storytellers, with a focus on projects which respond to our core objectives which are to support:

- The early careers of ambitious filmmakers;
- Work with cultural relevance or progressive ideas;
- Filmmaking that takes risks on talent, form and content, where the more commercial sector cannot;
- Work that recognises the quality of difference - in perspective, in talent, in recruitment;

- An increase in the number of active projects originated by filmmakers outside London.

BFI Doc Society Shorts programme supports projects with directors based in the UK. This nation-wide programme endeavours to help more voices in more places contribute to distinctive, original storytelling.

BFI Doc Society Shorts funding

This fund is for non-fiction shorts, in both live action and animation. We want to support short films that:

- Bring exciting new voices and bold narratives to the screen
- Provide space for experimentation and idea-testing
- Advance the careers of the filmmakers involved through showcasing their abilities to the industry and the public.

What support do filmmakers receive?

This fund provides grants to support the production costs of non-fiction short films. Each award of funding is accompanied by creative oversight of the short film by the BFI Doc Society Fund Executive, supported by our Production Manager and Business Affairs. As well as working with filmmakers prior to and during production, they may also be able to advise you on:

- Finding screening opportunities, regionally and further afield

- Potential collaborators for your project
- Festival strategy for your film
- Other means to gain industry exposure for your work.

Other sources of support

If you are looking for fiction film funding or for professional development opportunities, contact the BFI NETWORK partner in your nation or region to find out more about their funding for new filmmakers.

Can I apply?

At the application stage, projects will not need to have a producer attached. In such circumstances the BFI Doc Society team can help in finding an appropriate producer if needed, if a project is accepted; the filmmaker would need to confirm a producer for the project if funding has been approved.

During assessment of your application or after we make any award to the project, the BFI Doc Society Executive may recommend you attach an additional producer to your film in cases where your team would benefit distinctly from this additional expertise.

This fund welcomes new talent in the documentary industry and as such the director and producer on the project can be new to documentary filmmaking, but but will need to be able to demonstrate a broader creative track record as part of the application. This could be student work, or something created at a grassroots/non-professional level, and it may be in film, television, theatre or another artform. All of these team members need to be over 18 and not in full-time education.

If members of your team are involved in other short film projects that are also seeking funds, or have secured funds, from BFI Doc Society, you should state this in your application. It will need to be clear to us that those concerned would be able to fulfill their obligations to each film, should they be offered funding for more than one project.

What should I do before applying?

Before you make an application you should:

- Register for the BFI NETWORK Postroom, an online space for filmmakers to post previous short films or new scripts, where they can be viewed by industry executives. This can lead to connections being made with funding decision-makers, producers and agents. You can find the Postroom here and create a profile here; and
- read the BFI Diversity Standards, a set of measures that prompt you to consider how your project can contribute to creating a more inclusive UK film industry. You'll be asked to respond to the Standards in your application.

Checklist before you apply

Please check that you meet the below criteria, and any other specifications made in these Guidelines, before submitting your application. Please note that references to the role of writer only apply if you have a designated writer on your project.

Speculative Submissions

We can only make awards to projects that have been submitted to us through the online application process. This means that we cannot accept, or read, informal submissions such as feature ideas or other materials submitted by any means other than the online application portal.

What can I apply for?

You can apply to this fund for upto £15,000 for the production costs and finishing funds of your short film. We will assess the feasibility of your budget. Your budget should allow a minimum of £3,000 for finishing post-production and deliverables. Finishing post-production includes ingesting, grading, online edit and sound post). Film deliverable items include:

1 Pro Res 422 (HQ) file: the Pro Res must be delivered either on a portable hard drive, such as the Avastor HDX series, or uploaded direct to a secure client account on the BFI's file transfer portal.

1 H264 .mov or .mp4 file: the H264 file may be delivered on a hard drive or via a secure cloud-based computer file transfer service.

1 password protected Vimeo link.

(see point 8 of Successful Applications section for rest of deliverables).

This fund is for documentary short films of up to forty minutes in length (and it's fine to aim to make a film that's considerably shorter). We will look at your idea and the rest of your application to gauge how long your film is likely to be.

Music

Music can be complicated to clear in terms of permissions, and expensive. If we make an award for your short film, our agreement with you for the funding will include parameters for use of music within the film, to ensure that additional costs or delays do not arise during distribution of the film in relation to getting permission to use music.

How do I make an application?

Applications for this funding open on Friday 7th June and close at noon on Tuesday 9th July 2019 via the Doc Society website.

When first using the online application portal you will be asked to create an account and means you can save and review your applications before submission; please note this is separate to the Postroom profile described above. You will be able to access all your previous and in-progress applications at any point by logging into your account. If you need support in completing the application form please contact hello@docsociety.org

It should be your project's producer who completes this form, or if you do not yet have a producer, the project's director. This person will be considered the 'lead applicant' to whom, if your application is successful, the award will be made as Applications can be made by individuals or through a production company.

Equality Monitoring

When completing an application you'll be asked questions concerning the diversity of your team. This collects data to help measure how effective the BFI Doc Society Fund is in attracting a diverse range of applicants for funding. It requests information about the director and producer on your project. When filling it in, you can select ‘prefer not to say’ if you’d rather not share the information requested.

Project, team and supporting material

These sections will ask you for information including:

- your story idea.
- the practical elements of producing the film.
- CV summaries for your producer, director and writer (if applicable).
- links or attachments to previous creative work from your core team members, such as short films, writing samples or visual art work. You can also provide links to materials expressing your ideas for your new project.
- how your project responds to the BFI Diversity Standards, e.g. How it might address industry under-representation in relation to disability, gender, race, age, sexual orientation and / or socio-economic status. The information you provide for this answer may be anonymised and used to help inform future funding decisions, research and strategy.

Finances

You’ll be asked to state the amount of funding you are seeking from the BFI for your short film (maximum £15,000), alongside the total cost of producing it. A minimum of £3,000 should be allocated to the finishing, post-production and deliverables via the film teams independently.

If the total cost of your film exceeds the amount you are requesting from the BFI Doc Society Short Film Fund, you don’t need to have all of the additional funds raised at the point of application, but will need to show an achievable plan for securing them. These additional funds would need to be secured before we make any award to you.

Budget

At the end of the form you will need to attach a budget using the Excel template provided alongside these guidelines, showing your projected income and a breakdown of your anticipated costs. If you need any guidance about how to complete the template, please email hello@docsociety.org

Your budget should make sure to include sufficient funds to cover:

- all costs you expect to incur, with estimates used if necessary
- the clearance of all rights in the film worldwide in all media in perpetuity (including use fees, repeat fees and residuals)
- payment for all cast and crew at least at National Minimum Wage rates or higher (<https://www.gov.uk/national-minimum-wage-rates>)
- the production insurances
- all the delivery materials (see Successful applications below) required by BFI Doc Society
- a 5% contingency
- any other requirements of funding detailed within these Guidelines.

Please note that the funding from BFI Doc Society will be a grant and inclusive of any VAT.

What happens to my application?

Once you have submitted your application, you'll receive a confirmation within 14 days of submission that it has been received.

A. Eligibility

We will check that your application is eligible for funding; using the criteria identified in Can I Apply? above. Only complete applications can be assessed so if there is information missing from your application this will make it ineligible.

B. Assessment

Your application will be assessed against the following criteria:

- its potential contribution to meeting the stated objectives of the BFI Doc Society Fund
- the creative strengths of the proposal
- the strengths of the project team
- how the story will connect with audiences
- the impact your project could have in addressing the BFI Diversity Standards
- the project's likely need for National Lottery support, e.g. related to its potential cultural impact
- the overall balance of projects receiving support, to ensure variety in the work being funded.

The assessment will also take into account how you have managed any previous BFI or Doc Society funding you may have received.

A BFI Doc Society team member may contact you to discuss your project, including suggesting you make revisions to your application prior to a final decision being made. You might be asked for further information, or invited to have a phone call or meeting - this doesn't mean any commitment has been made to fund your project, but will help us gather the information needed to make a decision.

We may consult external readers or colleagues from other organisations regarding your application. If this occurs, the individuals involved will be required to maintain confidentiality regarding the application contents and agree not to retain application materials following their review.

We may undertake a due diligence assessment of the applicant as part of the review process.

Fund Committee Consideration

The Fund Committee is comprised of the Fund executives, a representative of the BFI, and Doc Society executive directors. The Fund Committee will decide whether to award funding to an application.

All applicants will be informed in writing of the decision on their application. If your application is declined, all supporting materials will be deleted from your submission in line with our record retention policy.

The decision of BFI Doc Society as to whether it wishes to support your application is final.

C. Timeline Summary

Stage	Timeline
Email acknowledgment of your application	Within two weeks of submission

Decision to progress or decline your application	Within eight weeks of acknowledgment
--	--------------------------------------

If we request additional materials from you, the amount of time it takes for you to supply these may have an impact on our ability to take a decision on your application within the above timeframe, and it may take more than eight weeks after acknowledgment to reach a decision.

Feedback

We are only able to support a small percentage of the applications received and unfortunately have to say ‘no’ far more often than we are able to say ‘yes’. Where applications are not successful, we are not able to provide you with feedback. However, if you’ve had a project meeting or detailed call with a member of the BFI Doc Society team as part of the application process, or if they requested additional creative material, you can ask to receive some feedback.

Some of the reasons we decline applications are:

- The project was not eligible for funding
- It did not align with our stated objectives for this funding
- We felt the material was too familiar or derivative
- We didn’t feel that the project ‘needed’ National Lottery support, i.e. it should be financeable by other means
- There was insufficient engagement with the BFI Diversity Standards.

Complaints and Appeals

The complaints procedure cannot be used to appeal against our decision on giving a grant if we have followed our decision-making process correctly.

When the application relates to a creative submission, such as a script, we cannot reassess the script when it has been turned down on the basis of its creative merit.

Any comments about our policies should be made to

The Chief Executive Officer, Doc Society, 50 Frith Street, London W1D 4SQ

We welcome constructive feedback from you on our application process, so we can continue to improve: please send any feedback to hello@docsociety.org

Successful applications

If your application is successful, you will be made an offer of funding as set out below. Following this, a BFI Doc Society team member will provide creative input and oversight of your project.

You will need to provide an agreed final budget and a confirmed Specification for your short film, prior to us sending you the offer of funding. This will constitute the agreed criteria against which the project will be delivered.

The award will take the form of a non-recoupable grant and you will be required to enter into an agreement with the BFI Doc Society that sets out the terms and conditions of our funding. The agreement will include the following:

1. A legal undertaking by you that the work being funded is wholly original to you and your team and that all third party materials incorporated in the film are cleared for use in the film in all media in perpetuity.
2. A permanent license shall be granted to Doc Society and the BFI to exhibit the film in educational establishments and/or by online means on the BFI's website (including BFI Player and the BFI NETWORK Postroom) and to authorise others to do so via linked websites throughout the world in perpetuity and the right to use clips of the film.
3. A right of approval for the Doc Society of the rough and final cuts of the film.
4. A right of approval of all main production elements (including heads of department) and final credits.
5. A requirement to put in place all customary production insurances on which the Doc Society and BFI must be named as an additional insured.
6. A delivery date of the end of January 2020 by which you agree to finish work on your short film and submit the required delivery materials to us.
7. A cashflow that breaks down the award total into installments, with the final payment being subject to submission to us of the delivery materials. The majority of the award is generally provided in an initial installment (e.g. of 90%) to provide funding for use during delivery when costs are incurred. Any underspend on the award will be retained by, or reimbursed to, the BFI Doc Society Fund.

8. Delivery materials: We will require delivery of the following items (the cost of which must be contained in the budget for the film):

Film and Video Materials

1 Pro Res 422 (HQ) file: the Pro Res must be delivered either on a portable hard drive, such as the Avastor HDX series, or uploaded direct to a secure client account on the BFI's file transfer portal.

1 H264 .mov or .mp4 file: the H264 file may be delivered on a hard drive or via a secure cloud-based computer file transfer service.

1 password protected Vimeo link.

Publicity Materials

5-10 production stills taken from the film.

1 written pack to include one synopsis of approximately 250 words and a 160 character logline, flyers and other publicity material, full credits list, biographies of principal cast, individual producer(s), director(s), writer(s) and key crew, and production information, in electronic format by e-mail or file transfer.

Documentation

1 Final Cost Report.

Any applicable rights clearances.

Copies on emailed PDFs or on disc of all clearance agreements including Artists Agreement(s), Contributors Agreements (to include at a minimum all Heads of Department: DOP, Sound Recordist, Editor, Art Director/Production Designer, Sound Designer (if applicable)) and Music Contributors Agreement and a copy of the music cue sheet.

9. An undertaking from you to acknowledge publicly that you have received National Lottery funding. The support provided by BFI Doc Society is only possible because of the National Lottery. We ask the filmmakers we fund to do everything they can to acknowledge the National Lottery as the source of this funding. This includes displaying the National Lottery logo on your short film, related marketing materials, press releases and on the front pages of project and organisational websites. We ask beneficiaries to actively acknowledge and spread the word about their project being made possible by money raised by National Lottery players, whenever they can. This includes mentioning the National Lottery, at a minimum, on press releases, on print and marketing materials, online including through social media, and when speaking to the industry and the wider public about the project.
10. An undertaking from you to deliver against the plans made by you in relation to the BFI Diversity Standards. Failure to deliver against those undertakings without good cause may affect your ability to receive future project funding from the BFI.
11. Standard termination provisions.

Doc Society Funding General Conditions

1. The information in these guidelines can change. The law and Government regulations on distributing National Lottery funds may also change. Doc Society therefore reserves the right to review this funding scheme and/or change its policies, procedures and assessment criteria.

2. The application form does not necessarily cover all the information BFI Doc Society uses to decide which applications to fund. The BFI Doc Society team can ask applicants for extra information.

3. All applications are made at the applicant's own risk. BFI Doc Society will not be liable for loss, damage or costs arising directly or indirectly from:

- the application process;
- BFI Doc Society's decision not to provide an award to an applicant; or
- dealing with the application.

4. Please check your application form carefully. BFI Doc Society will not process applications which are incomplete or which do not comply with these guidelines.

5. BFI Doc Society decisions on applications are final.

6. BFI Doc Society will not pay any funding until it has received a fully executed copy of the funding agreement and any conditions precedent to that agreement have been satisfied or waived by BFI Doc Society.

7. Doc Society will publicise information on the number of applications it receives and the awards made. This information will include the name of the successful applicant, award amount, project name and project details.

8. The Freedom of Information Act 2000 gives members of the public the right to request certain information held by Doc Society. This includes information held in relation to applications to the BFI Doc Society's National Lottery funding programmes or schemes. Therefore if you choose to apply to BFI Doc Society you should be aware that the information you supply, either in whole or in part, may be disclosed under the Freedom of Information Act.

9. Sometimes the Doc Society's Board Members or members of staff may be involved in some way with applicants. This interest has to be declared in applications from such applicants. The relevant Governor or staff member will not be involved in assessing the application or the decision to make an award. Applicants are advised not to try to influence the success of their application by approaching a Governor or staff member.

10. It is important that applicants carefully check the information given in the application form. Doc Society Standard Terms and Conditions entitle it to withhold or reclaim an award in the following circumstances:

- If the application was filled in dishonestly or with incorrect or misleading information about the organisation or the project whether deliberately or accidentally; and
- If the award recipient acts dishonestly or negligently to the disadvantage of the project.

Doc Society will follow up cases of suspected fraud and will pass information to the police.

11. Doc Society requires that any measures taken by applicants to address underrepresentation be fully in compliance with the Equality Act 2010 - see more at www.equalityhumanrights.com.

12. Complaints and Appeals: Doc Society's decision is final. Inevitably applications will be turned down and applicants may be disappointed by this result. Formal appeals against the final decision will not be considered unless the applicant has good cause to believe that the procedures for processing the applications were not adhered to, or applied in such a way as to prejudice the outcome of the application. If such a situation arises, please send a letter to the Chief Executive, Doc Society, 50 Frith Street W1D 4SQ

13. Recognition of the National Lottery: The BFI distributes ‘good cause’ National Lottery Funding. We ask all of our award recipients to increase the visibility of the National Lottery by:

- Promoting and proudly displaying the National Lottery logo; and warmly and energetically finding ways to get all beneficiaries to spread the word.

It is therefore an important condition of BFI Doc Society funding that the source of the funding (being the National Lottery) is prominently acknowledged through conspicuous use of the BFI Doc Society/National Lottery lock up logo and through agreed verbal and written acknowledgement. Also that partners and beneficiaries take frequent opportunities to highlight not just the fact of the funding but why it is funded and therefore the good work that is possible through the National Lottery.
